

Is Your Dog a Republican or a Democrat?

By WebVet

Election season is heating up and it seems like everyone has an opinion. Even your furry friend who has taken in the convention speeches and countless hours of news reports beside you on the couch. Think he or she wasn't paying attention to all the TV time? Think again! Take this quiz to determine whether your pup shares your political opinions:

1) My dog is perfectly coiffed at all times.

A. True B. False

2) My dog barks at objects and people that aren't really there . . . like chairs.

A. True B. False

3) My dog has famous friends who will bark on his behalf when needed.

A. False B. True

4) My dog prefers car rides when his crate is strapped to the roof of the family car.

A. True B. False

5) My dog is attracted to other dogs with incredibly toned arms . . . er, paws.

A. False B. True

6) My dog doesn't think that dogs from other neighborhoods should be allowed to come play in his dog park.

A. True B. False

7) My dog thinks dogs in shelters should figure out how to get adopted on their own.

A. True B. False

8) My dogs thinks that he should have to share his toys with other neighborhood dogs, even though he earned them through good behavior.

A. False B. True

9) My dog believes all dogs should have mandatory veterinary care.

A. False B. True

10) Foxes love my dog! Or maybe just one big Fox. Owned by Rupert Murdoch.

A. True B. False

Results!

If you got mostly A's, then get your dog a red collar, because he's all about Romney-Paul 2012! If you scored mostly B's, then your pup is gunning for four more years of (supposed) hope and change!